Something for everyone at Elk Point Fair

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point's gardeners, crafters and cooks are busy this week preparing their entries for Elk Point and District Agricultural Society's Fair 2005.

Entries in no less than 622 classes will be accepted at the A.G. Ross Arena between 11:30 am and 2:00 pm on Saturday, August 13. The Fair will be open for public viewing on Sunday, August 14 from 1:00 to 4:00 pm, winding up with the presentation of prizes for the most total points in each of 21 sections as well as aggregate prizes for the entire fair.

Exhibitors at the Elk Point Fair come from all age groups, from preschoolers to seniors. In addition to the Junior Fair section, with 66 art and craft categories, there are junior divisions in baking, sewing, photography, flowers, knitting / crochet / weaving, vegetables, arts / crafts / hobbies and creative writing. Seniors age 60 and over also have their own section, encompassing everything from aprons to woodworking in a total of 26 categories.

Entry forms, fair books and exhibit tags are available at the Elk Point Review office.

A special highlight at the Fair again this year is the "Meet the Challenge" category in the Photography section. Each year, the Fair Board chooses a word and challenges photographers to enter their work that best represents that word. This year, as the province celebrates its centennial, the challenge is to display a photo that represents "Alberta" — people, place or thing.

An increasingly popular part of the Fair is the Quilt Display. A variety of full sized quilts, from pioneer artifacts and heirlooms to newly constructed quilts destined to be the heirlooms of tomorrow, will fill close to half the arena, with other displays including smaller quilted or patchwork items and, new this year, a selection of "works in progress" — quilted items which are not yet totally completed. Display coordinator Verona Lee Flanders was still looking for a few more quilted items to round out the display, and these may be brought, along with a short written history of the quilt and/or quilter, to the arena at the same time as the fair entries.

The quilts are not judged, except by the viewers who are invited to vote for their favorites in the large and smaller item categories, with prizes going to the owners of these "people's choice" items.

See you all at the Fair — it's bound to be great!

Happy trails gang to reunite in Heinsburg

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

A decade or more ago, each summer saw a long train of wagons, buggies and horseback riders head for the hills on a slow-paced journey through scenic Northeast Alberta, known as the Happy Trails Wagon Train. Now, happy times are here again.

All those who took part in these treks of yesteryear have been invited to the Happy Trails 10-Year Reunion at Heinsburg Community Hall this weekend - no horses required.

"This is not a trail ride or wagon trek. It is a day to relax and reminisce, a day for fun, food and entertainment. Don't miss this one," says reunion coordinator Joe Brunner. Brunner urges anyone with photo albums of the wagon trains to bring them along, and also says a video tape will be shown.

The day of visiting and talking over old times and great adventures will include a potluck supper and a jamboree for all to enjoy.

Wagon trains traveled Happy Trails in the 1990s.

Forts serve history with a side of cake

By JAY GUTTERIDGE
Journal Staff

Visitors to Fort George and Buckingham House received a tasty treat last Saturday afternoon, as the Friends of the Forts Society hosted the second annual Saskatoon Dessert Day.

The Friends, along with the staff at the Forts, served up upside-down saskatoon cake with whipped cream to guests at the historic site.

The Friends – a society dedicated to fundraising and volunteering at the Forts – hosted the first Saskatoon Dessert Day last year, serving saskatoon pie.

“It was (successful last year), and we hope it will be equally successful this year,” said Friends member Donna Chamberland.

Guests who partook in eating the tasty desserts were asked to donate to the Forts. Through their various fundraising events, the Friends help improve the historic site.

“One project they financed is the redeveloped stage area,” said Marianne Mack, facility supervisor with the Historical Sites and Cultural Facilities Branch of Alberta Community Development. The stage area is located just outside the office and gallery building at the Forts site.

The Forts will host another big event at the end of this month in the Forts des Prairies Jamboree.

“Various musicians come and perform for the audience. It’s quite a varied program,” said Chamberland. “There are people with violins, guitars, people who read poetry.”

The Jamboree takes place on Aug. 28 starting at 1 p.m.

Midori Brown of Vermilion, Rhonda Mort of Calgary and Gail Walker of Vermilion enjoy some upside-down saskatoon cake with whipped cream last Saturday during the second annual Saskatoon Dessert Day at Fort George and Buckingham House.

We are very proud of our club’s senior member, Shaun Robinson and nine other members from our District who took part in the Canadian 4-H Council’s Exchange Program. Some of the things that the members, along with their exchange partners from Ontario did were: a visit to the salt plant, hatchery, air-base, West Edmonton Mall and Stoney Lake Rodeo and they also took part in the Fort George Fur Challenge and a game of paintball.

When our members went to Ontario, they went to a pow-wow, Niagara Falls, Canada’s Wonderland, Playdium fun and learned of another way of life.

Good job everyone!

EDITORIAL

Summer: good to the last sip

Last week we gave you 16 suggestions on ways to enjoy this last month of glorious summer 2005. Here's a few more for good measure...

17-18: Elk Point Fair is coming up this weekend. Why not look around and see what you can enter: that great snapshot you took on holidays, that fat pumpkin that's hiding in your garden, or the afghan you just finished crocheting. And then, on Sunday, even if you haven't entered, come on down to the fair and admire not only the bench fair entries basking in the limelight, but also the huge array of quilts at the quilt show.

19 - 22: Ice cream cones - have you eaten your quota this summer? There are four outlets that specialize in ice cream, and a whole lot of flavours to be tasted.

23 - Have your kids been attending the Summer Reading Program at Elk Point Public Library? If not, check it out - there may be vacancies.

24 - For a blast from the past, visit our local antique store. All those folks who come a long way to shop there will tell you it's a great place for nostalgia.

25 - Wait for the wagons. The Métis Centennial Wagon Train will be pulling into town on August 18, bringing with them a fascinating peek at Métis culture.

26 - Sit under a tree with a good book and a glass of lemonade or iced tea, and ignore the rest of the world for an hour or two.

27 - Shop end-of-summer sales for the best bargains all year. They'd rather sell it than store it, so indulge.

28 - Check in at the Tourist Information Centre, sign the guest book and pick up some info on places to visit next summer.

29 - Finally and most important - enjoy every minute!

Way Back When...

Multi-million-dollar projects underway

Here's the news that made the headlines in the Elk Point Review and Lakeland Review for the week of August 9 in...

1985

Building permits for more than $5.3 million had been issued so far in 1985, reported development officer Ralph Riemer, with six residential and one industrial permit issued in July alone. Almost 90 Girl Guides, Pathfinders and leaders, including eight Elk Point girls, enjoyed their week at the Lakeland Division Girl Guide camp at Muriel Lake.

1990

The long-awaited widening of Highway 41 from Elk Point to the Highway 28 junction got underway with Overall Construction in charge of the $1,356,726 project, while the County of St. Paul was preparing for base course paving on Secondary Highway 646 from Highway 41 to the Stoney Lake area. Over 400 members of the Poiras family gathered at Kehewin Lake for a Heritage Day weekend reunion bringing together the descendants of Pierre Poiras, who came west with the Métis exodus of the late 1800s.

1995

One of our papers is missing - sorry! All we know for sure is that Don Turner won $100,000 on the Plus.

2000

An angler was swept downstream when he lost his footing on a sandbar in the North Saskatchewan River near Lindbergh, with RCMP and local searchers aided by RCMP Air Services, Edmonton, and Fish and Wildlife officers to locate the man, suffering dehydration and exhaustion, three to four miles downstream. Tourist numbers were down from the previous year at both the Tourist Information Centre and Fort George and Buckingham House Interpretive Centre.

GUEST COLUMN

It is fair time - enjoy!

This coming weekend is the Elk Point Agricultural Fair time. To all you who grow gardens, enter your vegetables and flowers. Of course there are many other categories as well. Quilters, photographers, bakers and canners are also being invited to enter a sample of their best. You all may just win a ribbon or two. You wouldn't know unless you enter.

Speaking of the summer season with all of the best garden produce to enjoy, let me share a recipe with you from a Canadian cookbook called "Grandma's Touch". The recipe is:

Rhubarb and Strawberry Pie

Pastry for a 2-crust pie
1 cup sliced strawberries
4 cups chopped rhubarb
1 1/4 cups sugar
1/4 cup cornstarch (or minute tapioca)
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1 tbsp. milk
Sugar

Line the bottom of a 9" pie plate with pie crust. Combine all ingredients except milk and sugar. Pour into pie crust. Top with a lattice-type crust. Brush with milk and sprinkle with sugar. Bake at 350 degrees F for one hour or until golden brown. Variations: Blueberries or saskatoons may be substituted for the strawberries.

The Elk Point Review publishes a variety of opinions as a contribution to debate on matters of public concern. Unsigned editorials express the view of this newspaper's editorial board which includes the Publisher and the Editor. Signed pieces express the view of the individual writer.

from the FCSS desk

Some of you are probably saying: "that recipe is so simple I already know it, and I already make that pie." That is great! But you know what with the changing situations in our lives, I bet there are a few of you out there that just don't have time to bake so you go to the store and purchase "stuff" already baked by someone else. So to all of you who fit that description, go ahead and be brave, and try this simple recipe. You wouldn't believe the difference in taste. The good old summer time does certainly have its rewards with produce from the garden. If you didn't grow a garden, go to the farmers' market, or try going to those places that say "U-pick."

It seems like sometimes "history repeats itself." For example, our moms and grandmothers grew gardens and did a lot of work planting, nurturing and harvesting. Some of us didn't get interested until we left home, married and started having a family of our own and then we asked our mom, "how do you do....?" Basically, what I am saying, it doesn't matter when your interest started, the main point is that it started. Good for you!

There is a great thought expressed by John F. Kennedy when he told the following story. "The great French Marshal Lyautey once asked his gardener to plant a tree. The gardener objected that the tree was slow growing and would not reach maturity of 100 years. The marshal replied, 'in that case, there is no time to lose; plant it this afternoon!'"

Fortunately, our gardens only take part of the spring, the summer and a short time in fall to enjoy. So to all you gardeners, don't forget to be a part of the Elk Point Agricultural Fair and enter your produce and such. For the rest of the gardening season, let us all try good recipes and enjoy our produce!

Photos wanted for local contest

By Ray Danyluk, MLA

Report from the Legislature

Do you have a flare for photography? Maybe you have a scenic shot in mind you've always wanted to take. Well, we want it for our photo contest.

Photos must be taken within the Lac La Biche-St. Paul Constituency and we are primarily looking for scenic photos that give a strong depiction of the local area and the various activities in the region.

The contest started April 1 and runs until this fall. Please drop off, mail or e-mail original photos to the constituency office.

The winners will be invited to a special dinner with Community Development Minister Gary Mar, and their photos will be used for greetings cards and a 2006 calendar distributed by the MLA.

Please include your name, address, telephone number and e-mail (if applicable) along with your photo(s). Original photos will be returned if requested.

Winners will be announced this fall. Happy snapping!

Auto insurance rates set to drop again for Alberta drivers

Good drivers in Alberta will see another four per cent reduction to their premiums for mandatory auto insurance this November, bringing total premium reductions since reforms were introduced to 15 per cent.

The further reduction shows how Alberta's reforms are benefiting consumers: premiums for mandatory insurance have been reduced, and will continue to be set up by the Automobile Insurance Rate Board. The average of private passenger mandatory and optional auto insurance premiums paid by Albertans in 2004 was approximately $1,219. The 15 per cent premium reductions apply to the mandatory portion of the overall premium.

The further four per cent reduction that will take effect in November is the result of the first review of mandatory premiums by the new Automobile Insurance Rate Board. The board – consisting of eight Albertans unconnected to the auto insurance industry and including a designated consumer representative – held four days of public meetings in June to hear submissions on setting premium levels for 2005-06.

Art school coming to Derwent area

By LEAH IVERSON

Review Staff

Aspiring artists will get a new place to learn and create thanks to a one-of-a-kind art school opening in Derwent.

Construction for Living Water College of the Arts is nearly complete. The school is a private Catholic arts college that combines classical liberal arts with fine arts.

"The idea is to go back in art to the fountain of inspiration," said Jerome Spoeth, a director with the school. "We want to rejuvenate arts."

Throughout the three-year course, students study fundamental arts, painting, music, filmmaking, drawing and even geometry, all taught by authors and artists.

During the second year, students participate in a mentorship program where they learn about art firsthand by living with an artist for a couple of months.

At the end of the program, students have an art portfolio, which is vital for any artist to show prospective buyers.

"The portfolio is much more useful for them," said Spoeth. "Hopefully, we will also offer a Bachelor of Arts degree."

The school features several classrooms, a sound stage, a chapel and even two dormitories large enough to fit the 30-student maximum.

"Students will live in the dormitory which has a kitchen and a dining room," said Spoeth. "There's a student atrium where the students will gather together."

The school is located just outside Derwent.

"It's located in the country and is a retreat from the busy life," said Spoeth. "It's a three-year retreat into history."

Organizers look forward to a mix of students, both new artists and artists looking to perfect their craft.

"We expect students to come with a wide variety of experience, some already artists and some right out of high school," said Spoeth.

Since the school is so unique, prospective artists may come from far away to join the program, he said.

"Most students will probably be from outside of Derwent," said Spoeth. "We expect students from out of province or even other countries because it's the kind of program you don't find in many countries."

The school is expected to open in January 2007. Anyone wishing to find out more on the school or to apply, can visit the website at www.livingwatercollege.com.

Waylon May, 10, tumbles out of the way of his blasting rocket at the Elk Point Library last Tuesday afternoon. May was taking part in one of the many Summer Reading Program activities with the theme Blast Off To Space.

On Tuesday, August 2, during the Summer Reading Program the children and I launched our very own rockets. Each child had the opportunity to create a rocket of their own and then we went our side to launch them. To dress for this occasion, each child created a space vest out of brown paper grocery bags which were kindly donated by the Co-op. To ensure that our eyes were protected, each of us also wore safety glasses which were generously donated by E-Can Oilfield Services. The children registered in the Summer Reading Program and I would like to send out our sincerest thank you to E-Can Oilfield Services and the Elk Point and District Co-op for supporting our program!

Just a reminder that today, August 9, is the last day to RSVP for the Summer Reading Program Farewell Party at Fort George and Buckingham House on August 18 at 2:00 pm. Please call Roseann at 724-3737 if you or your friends and family plan to attend.

Landfill receives grant to revamp landscape

BY LEAH IVERSON
Journal Staff

The Evergreen Regional Landfill is about to look a lot nicer, thanks to recent funding from Alberta's Community Centennial Grant Program.

An $11,598 grant was awarded to St. Paul Waste Management Services and the money is going toward a landscaping project for the landfill.

"We are very pleased that our community (Evergreen Regional Waste Management Services Commission) will be receiving grant to develop a walkway, patio area, stair and deck covering at our waste facility," said Dennis Bergheim, manager for St. Paul Waste Management Services, in a press release from the Alberta Recycling Management Authority, which manages the Community Centennial Grant Program.

St. Paul Waste Management Services is among more than 30 organizations chosen in the province-wide competition which awards funds to programs for turning used recycled tire products into community enhancement projects.

In total, the landscaping project is expected to cost $29,196 and the remaining $17,598 will be covered by municipal dollars.

The focus of the landscape project is to beautify the public landfill site and to break the stereotypes about landfills.

"From a long time ago, we felt that we didn't want it to look like a dump. We want people to be attracted to it and respect and appreciate it," said County of St. Paul Reeve Robert Bouchard, chairman of the Evergreen board. "Especially for the younger generation, the school kids coming to visit can see something else besides just garbage."

Construction of the new landscape is set to begin soon and is expected to be finished in time for the official opening day of the landfill on Sept. 23.

"There's people who work here (Evergreen Regional Landfill) all year long and they can take pride in the project," said Bouchard.

The landfill is located one mile east and four miles south of Lafond and opened on Jan. 3, 2005.

The board's consumer representative presented a report outlining current consumer perceptions. Among the findings: consumers generally perceive auto insurance as more affordable and accessible since the reforms, they are more likely to insure their vehicles than drive without insurance, inexperienced drivers saw significant reductions, many consumers do shop around but only a small number reported switching companies, and since October 2004, no cases have been submitted to the Auto Insurance Dispute Resolution Committee.

The rate board's mandate is to annually set premiums for mandatory coverage on private passenger vehicles on an industry-wide basis. The four per cent reduction applies to premiums for mandatory private passenger auto insurance only, not to optional or commercial coverage.

If you have any questions on the photo contest, auto insurance or any other issues, please call the Constituency Office in St. Paul at 645-6999 or toll-free at 1-866-674-6999.
